→ How to avoid suffering and burdens of being “stuck” in Advanced Dementia—if you have “No Plug To Pull”? First complete a clear and specific Living Will. Then add the Ironclad Strategy so others will HONOR your wishes.

→ One out of six physicians morally object to providing effective treatment for unbearable pain—even though this is the American Medical Association’s position: “Palliative Sedation” is not euthanasia. Yet the AMA states Palliative Sedation is “not appropriate for...primarily existential suffering.” How can you get the relief you want?

→ What can we learn from sad experiences of Casey Kasem, Robin Williams, Brittany Maynard and Still Alice?

Stanley A. Terman, PhD, MD, is a psychiatrist and bioethicist. (His PhD is in Biophysics from MIT.) For almost two decades, he has dedicated his career to reducing the suffering of terminally ill patients and their loved ones, especially if they face the huge challenges of Advanced Dementia. He wrote four books, created an illustrated decision-aid tool to generate clear and specific Living Wills, and developed the “Ironclad Strategy”—all with collaborators in medicine, bioethics, the clergy, and the law. In 2000, he founded a non-profit organization, Caring Advocates, that is now a national leader in Advance Care Planning for dementia designed to be EFFECTIVE.

Is YOUR Living Will safe & effective? Caring Advocates’ team of professionals will offer their opinions—at no cost or obligation. For instructions about this time-limited offer, visit www.CaringAdvocates.org,
